Coloured Mulch "Red"

This product is a ground wood product possibly from a mill yard where a lot of block ends are created when lumber is being cut to proper length. The blocks are ground, possibly with cedar wood, to create a cedar aroma. The wood product is passed through a colouring process when it comes out as a red mulch. This product is a bit more stable on the ground than bark mulch. It is great for dressing up slopes to match with other red surroundings such as roof shingles.
